Within this framework, the following sections apply for agricultural products including livestock and wild collection (raw and processed) to be marked under the brand GROWN IN BHUTAN, which is being registered as a Collective Mark with the Department of Media, Creative Industry and Intellectual Property (DoMCIIP) of the Ministry of Industry, Commerce, and Employment.

2. Application procedure

Any individual farmer and farmer groups, cooperatives, State Owned Enterprises (SOEs), NGOs, and private businesses that hold a license or registration in Bhutan to produce farm (or farm-based) products or for wild collection can apply for GROWN IN BHUTAN under the umbrella BRAND BHUTAN.

Individuals, companies, and organizations who want to use the mark have to complete the “Application form for the Grown-in-Bhutan Mark”. Applicants are requested to provide information according to their best knowledge and information. The provision of misleading or wrong information will lead to losing the right of applying for the mark for one year. If an applicant wants to apply for different products, a separate questionnaire has to be filled in for each product.

The “Application form for the Grown-in-Bhutan Mark” has to be submitted to the BRAND BHUTAN Secretariat, which is managed by the Department of Trade. The “Application form for the “Grown-in-Bhutan Mark” must be accompanied by a product sample. The applicant should upload the photos of the product samples for record and later reference. The product samples will be returned to the applicant after the assessment is done.

The BRAND BHUTAN Committee consisting of members from the Department of Trade and relevant agencies will assess the completed questionnaires and product samples.

In case of incomplete, unclear or missing information, the Brand Bhutan Secretariat may ask the applicant to provide further details and may inspect the business premises where goods are produced or packaged by providing prior notice to the applicant.

The Brand Bhutan Secretariat will notify the applicant about the outcome of the application. The decision can be as follows:

- Non-approval: The applicant does not fulfil the criteria of GROWN IN BHUTAN.
- Approval with condition: The products are approved, but with certain conditions with a period to rectify them, after which products are allowed to use the mark.
- Approval: The products are approved without any condition, provided that an undertaking of compliance is signed. The certificate of approval will bear the signature of the authorised representative from the Ministry.

The right to use the mark will be granted for three years, as long as the rules and regulations of using the mark are respected and meet the requirements of the criteria set by the technical agencies. Applicants who are granted the right to use the mark have to sign and submit a declaration of Undertaking of Compliance. After three years, new applications have to be submitted, if the proponent (individual farmer, farmer organizations, processors, and exporters (private or government owned) intends to continue using the mark.

The BRAND BHUTAN Secretariat shall monitor the product for which approval is granted and may withdraw the approval in case of non-continued compliance with the rules and regulations.

Applicants have the right to appeal against decisions of the BRAND BHUTAN Committee. The appeal must be in writing and shall be filed at the Department of Trade within 10 days from the date of issue of notice and shall specifically disclose the reason for the appeal. The appeal shall be placed before the Brand Bhutan Appeal Committee who shall fix a date for hearing the appeal. The applicant will present their appeal in person to the Brand Bhutan Appeal Committee.

3. Articulation between Grown-in-Bhutan and Made-in-Bhutan

MADE IN BHUTAN guidelines should be used for “Products that are produced or manufactured either completely by hand or with the help of tools within Bhutan. Mechanical tools may be used as long as the direct manual contribution of the artisans remains the most substantial component of the finished handicraft products.”

GROWN IN BHUTAN guidelines should be used for “agricultural food products (including livestock products and wild collection) that are grown in Bhutan as well as processed food products made out of raw agricultural products that have been grown in Bhutan. As a result, non-edible processed products using raw agricultural products that have been grown in Bhutan fall under the “Made in Bhutan brand and guidelines.” The underlying principle guiding the choice of what guidelines to use is the following:

- Made-in-Bhutan Guidelines are for handicraft products and non-food processed agricultural products including water and other products which fulfil the criteria but key ingredients are not available domestically and have to be imported.

- Grown-in-Bhutan Guidelines are for fresh and processed food products, including livestock products and wild collections.

Figure 2 below illustrates the articulation between Made-in-Bhutan and Grown-in-Bhutan Guidelines for agricultural products

4. Grown-in-Bhutan Criteria

The detailed criteria to be applied for products GROWN IN BHUTAN reflect the lead criterion of the BRAND BHUTAN brand, which is “Premium goods, happily and sustainably Grown in Bhutan with uncompromised quality by reliable business partners”.

The lead criterion is a combination of the assessment of the origin of the product going along with further detailed criteria reflecting the specific values, culture, traditions and spirit of Bhutan. The lead criterion builds on five different elements:

- Premium quality
- Happily grown
- Sustainably grown
- Grown in Bhutan
- Produced/Grown by reliable business partners.

For a measurable assessment, these five elements of the lead criterion have been broken down into a number of criteria that the applicant is expected to meet.

For clarity, in the rest of this document, we treat separately i) farmers; ii) Farmer’s group; iii) Companies (Small and Medium enterprises, SOEs) and Civil Society Organizations as the criteria that must be met by these different types of stakeholders are different. However, there will only be one application form.

Review of the criteria

Criterion 1. The product/produce is from Bhutan (ORIGIN)

Concerning the origin of the product, different cases must be distinguished as detailed in the subsections below.

Case 1: The product/produce is the only ingredient:

RULE: 100% of the ingredients must come from Bhutan.

Example: fresh or dried ginger, roasted ginger or ginger powder.

Case 2: The product is not the only ingredient: This might be the case for products that mix GROWN IN BHUTAN ingredients with other ingredients that may or may not be GROWN IN BHUTAN certified.

Example: ginger jam, ginger and citrus jam, ginger infused tea.

In this case (case 2) following rules are applicable:

RULE 1: The primary ingredients must 100% come from Bhutan.

Primary ingredient means the ingredient with maximum volume or ingredients that give an essential characteristic to the product.

However, in Cordycep Tea, both Cordycep (essential ingredient) and Tea (volume) would be considered as primary ingredients.

RULE 2: If the other ingredients used in the product are available in Bhutan, they should come from Bhutan.

Example: One cannot use the GROWN IN BHUTAN label for citrus and ginger jam if the citrus does not come from Bhutan, as 'citrus is cultivated in Bhutan.

RULE 3: If the other ingredients used in the product are not available in Bhutan, they can be imported and the use of the label will be authorized.

Example: ginger jam can be labelled as GROWN IN BHUTAN even if no sugar is produced in Bhutan and all sugar is imported.

Criterion 2. Only top-quality products are accepted (PREMIUM QUALITY)

RULE: To ensure that only top-quality products are sold as GROWN IN BHUTAN, the ingredients from Bhutan will have to comply with quality standards.

Criterion 3. Fair prices are paid to the farmers (HAPPILY GROWN)

RULE: Farmers and farmer groups should be given a fair price for their products. The fair price can be defined either by adding a 20% profit margin to the production costs, or by ensuring that a contract is signed between the farmers and the aggregators/ processors.

Criterion 4. The final products are safe and sustainably grown

- Good Hygiene and Manufacturing Practices are applied

RULE: Companies/Enterprises/SMEs and CSOs follow Good Hygiene Practices and Good Manufacturing Practices and hold Food Safety License to ensure that their products are suitable and safe.

- Resource efficiency standard

RULE: Cleaner production techniques are applied – e.g., reduced use of resources, production without environment pollution, environmentally friendly production processes. This will only be applied to large companies that will need to submit environmental clearance.

Criterion 5. The applicant is a licensed or registered entity.

RULE: The applicant should provide information about his/her licence/certificate number or details of the registration as an individual entrepreneur, company, cooperative, Non-Governmental Organisation, Civil Society Organisation (CSO).

Criterion 6. The applicant should indicate the annual production capacity and market details.

Criterion 7. No adverse record and major complaints in business were reported in the last 3 years.

5. Rights of using the GROWN IN BHUTAN promotion material

The applicant has two options for using the GROWN IN BHUTAN mark:

- Option 1: Branding of the products under his own name, trade mark and label, and additionally using the GROWN IN BHUTAN logo/mark
- Option 2: Branding the product only as GROWN IN BHUTAN without using an own brand name.

Option 1 is the preferred way of applying GROWN IN BHUTAN. In general, the use of GROWN IN BHUTAN should go along with an own company branding.

The mark owner will make a set of promotion material, like hang tags or stickers, available to the applicant that can be used on the approved products. For mass production, the applicant may be allowed to print and apply the mark on the approved product.

Considering that Bhutan lives in harmony with the environment, wherever possible, the use of natural and locally sourced materials like wood, organic cotton and handcrafted materials is suggested for producing promotion material to add value and give a more human touch and natural feeling to our brand. The mark user should avoid using anything that associates an industrialized synthetic or unnatural feeling with the brand.

Appropriate examples of use of the mark are presented in table 2.

Table 2: Examples of use of the mark

Use	Example

Panels, banners, and posters for shop decoration

6. Visual identity system

The Grown in Bhutan logo artwork consists of part of a painting of Bhutanese motifs of sun, moon and clouds in red, orange, blue and green encapsulated in a circle. The painting within the circle is hand-painted and asymmetric rather than digitally drawn, to give the logo a more natural and organic look. The vibrant colours of the logo are from traditional pigments, intended to make the logo stand out as well as have a distinct Bhutanese aesthetic. The colours represent fruits and plants, earth and sky, as a nod to natural and organic Bhutanese produce. The elements of clouds, sun and moon are also indicative of natural environments.

The following specifications have to be respected when using the logo. It is vital that all mark users consistently apply the visual identity system set out in the Brand Bhutan Guidelines in order to build strong visual recognition.³

The logo lockup is designed with a white rectangle background to maximum visibility and clarity, and can be placed on any background without the need for alterations to the colours and typography. As such, the logo may not be edited or changed in any manner. The original colours as provided may not be changed, lightened, or altered in any way, to preserve the integrity of the logo.

No additional text of any type may be added on the logo and provided clear space. The design of the logo as a lockup is designed to be used independent of the surrounding design, and may be incorporated alongside any style of design/font/text belonging to the brand. This is to allow brands to maintain their overall brand look while using the Made in Bhutan lock-up without any changes.

The ratio of dimensions of the logo/lock-up may not be changed by stretching. Products should ensure that the logo provided is used in one place, and not cropped, partially removed, or printed on separate panels or materials.
